THE ARTS ARE EVERYWHERE

- Located in northwestern Lake Huron, Thunder Bay is adjacent to one of the most treacherous stretches of water within the Great Lakes system. Unpredictable weather, murky fog banks, sudden gales, and rocky shoals earned the area the name “Shipwreck Alley.” Today, the 4300-square-mile Thunder Bay National Marine Sanctuary protects one of America’s best-preserved and nationally significant collections of shipwrecks. Visit the Great Lake Maritime Heritage Center in Alpena, to see it firsthand.
- Art, Nature, and History meet at the Michigan Legacy Art Park in Thompsonville. This 30-acre wooded preserve offers an art experience and hiking trail that is uniquely “northern” Michigan.
- Head to our most western border, Ironwood, to see and hear, only one of six remaining Barton organs in the country. After a 13-year restoration project, the Ironwood Theatre regularly uses the completely playable “Grand Old Lady.” And if you know how to play, they will let you tickle the keys yourself.
- Prepare to be astounded. Three must-see attractions, 250 acres of unexpected and one awe-inspiring experience. That is what awaits you when you visit The Henry Ford in Dearborn. Where America’s traditions of ingenuity, resourcefulness and innovation inspire people to shape a better future.
- Betcha didn’t know MI is home to the No.1 Snowmobile Museum in North America, according to SnowGoer Magazine, Top of the Lake Snowmobile Museum is on US 2 in Naubinway.
- Michigan is home to unparalleled art and design schools from every corner of the map including; Cranbrook Academy of Art, Kendall College of Art and Design of Ferris State University, College of Creative Studies, PennyW. Stamps School of Art & Design at the University of Michigan, and Interlochen Center for the Arts
